Method & Production

Made from Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, and Silvaner grown in La Mancha, Bolle Sparkling Rosé is de-alcoholised through a double-column vacuum distillation at a low temperature to gently remove the alcohol before its blended with fresh grape juice and fermented for a second time using specially selected yeast strains. Naturally developing flavour, aroma and sparkle. With no added sugar, glycerine, flavourings or aromas, its character comes entirely from the winemaking process.

Tasting Notes
